

HJR336 – Machine Tool Manufacturer and Distributor

An opportunity to acquire a high-performing machine tools manufacturing business with well-established connections within the European and International markets.

The company has established a strong market reputation with proven expertise in developing, manufacturing and building entire machine tools and metal products with integrated electrical control technology, with their products shipped worldwide. The business also offers a range of complimentary services including the design, construction and manufacture of own products, contract manufacturing for third parties, conventional and CNC machines and the provision of spare parts.

The production facility of the business is located in Poland, with Europe-wide sales activities, alongside an additional sales company based in a second European territory. The business owns two prominent, well-known brands, delivering an engaging series of products within the machine tool sector.

This family-owned business has successfully built a solid, longstanding customer base throughout Europe, and established access to the Russian market. The business has attained a high level of brand awareness within its sector through consistent and focused sales activities, including a maintained presence at trade fairs, relationships with sales agencies and developing a robust dealer network throughout Europe.

The business benefits from experienced, highly skilled employees and excellent facilities. The offer comes with extensive commercial real estate comprised of approximately 20,000 sqm.

This opportunity also offers significant scope for growth in additional areas including mechanical machining, gear wheel production, welding, painting and final assembly of machines and equipment.
